

Dear Child Health and Wellness Summer Students,

We are just one month away from the abstract submission deadline for the 2025 Transdisciplinary Maternal & Child Health Trainee Research Day on Tuesday, August 26.

We welcome abstract submissions from undergraduate and summer students, graduate students, and post-doctoral/clinical fellows conducting research in maternal and child health research.

Abstract submission deadline: August 5 at 5 pm MT

We know July can be a busy time, but we encourage you to take this opportunity to share your summer research. Select submissions will also be invited to give oral presentations during the event; a unique opportunity to share your summer research and gain experience that summer students don't often get this early in their careers.
